KEY TAKEAWAYS

- The city sits at 3.7 months of supply — still balanced, but slightly softer than last week as inventory climbed to 6,233 active listings against 1,706 sales.
- Detached and semi-detached are both at 3.0 months — the tightest categories in Calgary, each clearing 33% of inventory in 30 days.
- Condos remain the only buyer's market. At 5.9 months and a 17% sell-through, apartments are 31% of everything for sale but only 19% of what sold.
- The $400K–$600K band carries the market: 497 of 1,706 city-wide sales — 29% — came from that price window across all four property types.
- Luxury condos are frozen while luxury houses move: 22 active condos over $1.5M produced one sale (22 months of supply), yet detached homes from $1M–$1.5M sold 112 units at just 2.8 months.

What Is Your Calgary Home Worth Today?

City-wide averages don't price an individual house. What your home is worth depends on your community, your price range and your property type — and those are moving in very different directions right now. I'll give you a free, no-obligation home evaluation based on what is actually selling around you.
